Progress Is Slow On Junior High, Parking Projects

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Plans are progressing for two downtown projects, according to the town manager, although to date that progress has not been very visible.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said this week that plans to turn the Heartland Jr. site off Bartlet Street into a 150-space surface parking lot are "moving ahead," while preliminary renovations at the former East Junior High are already underway.

Andover will purchase the 1.5-acre grocery store parcel from Bartlet Realty Trust (consisting of partners Robert Finlayson and Robert Webster, both of Andover) with annual town meeting's approval for $950,000. The cost of the purchase to the town will be $600,000; state grants will fund the balance of the purchase price.

Mahony said he hopes to see the grocery store torn down this summer, to make room for surface parking before the project gets underway in earnest. He said additional work will probably begin in the fall.

Final plans for the parking lot have not yet been designed. In addition, construction schedules must be coordinated with the telephone and electric companies, the manager explained, because all utility lines are to be installed underground.

State officials must approve plans for the project before work can begin, the manager said, adding that he hopes to meet with state officials next week.

(Bartlet Realty Trust purchased the grocery store in December for $700,000, with plans to renovate it into a retail center. Carlos Barcelos of Andover sold the building to the two partners after he had purchased it from Heartland owner Purity Supreme for $695,000. The Heartland store closed its doors on Christmas Eve.)

Down the street at the old East Junior High, some work is underway, consisting mostly of demolition and stripping, Mahony said. Channel Building of Andover is still working under a preliminary contract in the

Financing Completed For Refuse Facility

Financing has been completed for a $197 million refuse-to-energy project that will provide solid waste disposal for 21 northeastern Massachusetts communities, according to Richard J. Schoenenberger, vice president and general manager, UOP Inc.

The project, commonly known as NESWC, for the North East Solid Waste Committee of communities, represents a unique combination of public sector planning and private sector implementation.

"Participating communities should realize very competitive solid waste disposal costs from revenues that will be generated by converting household and commercial solid waste to saleable electricity," Schoenenberger said.

Twenty-one towns and cities north and northwest of Boston have signed 20-year contracts with Massachusetts REFUSETECH, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of UOP Inc., Des Plaines, IL. UOP will design and build the facility in North Andover. Massachusetts REFUSETECH, Inc. will own and operate the plant.

The project will be financed by $160 million of tax-exempt industrial revenue bonds and $37 million of taxable industrial revenue bonds issued by the North Andover Industrial Development Financing Authority.

Design and construction will begin May 27. Facility construction, start-up and testing will require approximately three years to complete. The plant will have processing capacity of 465,000 tons-per-year of municipal and commercial refuse.

"This project represents a milestone in the development of an economic solution for solid waste disposal from small and medium-sized communities," said Dr. Jack A. Hunter, director of business development for UOP.

John Phillips, senior marketing engineer for UOP Inc., noted the project has received strong community support. "It offers a long-term, economic alternative to landfill disposal, and more importantly, enables communities to control future solid waste disposal costs through regional cooperation," he said.

The facility will burn the refuse with proven mass-burning technology and generate electrical power to be sold to the local utility, New England Power Company. Communities will receive a credit against service fees from energy revenues generated from the facility. Additional credits related to metals recovery sales and disposal services provided to private refuse hauler will also become available to the contract communities.

Massachusetts communities have been assisted by the Commonwealth's Office of Environmental Affairs in evaluating their requirements, selection of a vendor and in the negotiation of contracts.

UOP Inc., one of The Signal Companies, is a world leader in the research, development, commercialization and operation of high technology process systems. Serving the energy, environmental, water treatment, refining, petrochemical and process industries, UOP markets its processes, products and technical and managerial expertise in almost every country in the world.

NESWC contract communities are Acton, Andover, Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Boxborough, Burlington, Carlisle, Hamilton, Lexington, Lincoln, Manchester, North Andover, North Reading, Peabody, Tewksbury, Watertown, Wenham, Westford, Wilmington and Winchester.

Crafts In Park Scheduled On Weekend

Crafts in the Park, one of Andover's surest signs of spring, will be held Saturday downtown in Central Park.

The American Field Service Club will sponsor the annual event to raise funds for American and foreign exchange students. Local craftspeople, as well as craftspeople from all over the state, will exhibit and sell their work in the park.

The event will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Andover Does Its Spring Cleaning

Andover gave townspeople a hand with their spring cleaning this week by picking up unlimited numbers of trash bags and bulky items along with the usual weekly rubbish collection. (Collection fell about one day behind schedule due to the extra work involved.)

So odd assortments of old furniture, broken toys and tools, bags and boxes decorated street corners all over town during the week. Trash collectors picked up anything except car parts and toxic materials.

Some connoisseurs of rubbish beat the town's collectors to the punch, however, by riding around town in pick-up trucks and scooping the cream off the tops of trash piles as early as Sunday afternoon.

Clean-up collections are held only twice each year, in the spring and again in the fall.

Public Can Dispose Of Hazardous Wastes

The Hazardous Waste Task Force reminds Andover residents that Saturday is Hazardous Waste Clean-Up Day, when townspeople will be allowed to dispose of up to two gallons of liquid or two pounds of solid hazardous household wastes free of charge. A fee will be charged for larger amounts.

Saturday's collection will be from the West Junior High parking lot, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Solvents, pesticides, outdated prescription drugs and caustics are among the wastes that will be collected. Disposed of improperly, such products can contaminate surface and underground water supplies.

Recycle Industries, Inc., of Braintree will collect the wastes in sealed drums and bring them to a safe disposal site.

Selectmen Cancel Meeting

Monday night's regular selectmen's meeting was cancelled for lack of interest — or rather, for lack of an agenda meaty enough to make it worthwhile.

The board was scheduled to consider granting one alcoholic beverage license, one video game license, and one sewer connection permit. They had also planned to discuss selling an old town garage located on Iceland Road, off Lowell Street.

The selectmen will meet at 7:30 next Monday night at Town Hall.

Shawsheen Future On Agenda

The School Committee will be looking ahead next week, discussing the future of the Shawsheen School building — along with the future of the Andover school system itself — when they meet at 7:30 Tuesday night at that school.

The committee is scheduled to hear presentations from several groups interested in using the Shawsheen after it is vacated by the school administration, which will be moving into new quarters at the former East Junior High.

They will also hear from the system's program advisors on their ideas for future directions, as the committee considers potential changes in the years ahead.

And the committee will discuss a proposed school calendar and preliminary staffing reports for the coming school year.

Nurses

Course

The Boston University School of Nursing will sponsor a week-long review session for the state Registered Nurse Licensing Examination June 6-10 from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Registration deadline is June 1.

Polish Celebration

The House of Seven Gables Settlement Association in Salem is sponsoring a Polish Street Fair on Sunday, May 15, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Held on Turner Street, the ancient lane where the House of Seven Gables sits, the fair celebrates the customs and heritage brought to America by the many Polish immigrants who have come since America's earliest settlements.

The fair will feature Polish singers and dancers in native costume and demonstrations of Wyciananki, the art of Polish paper cutting. Examples of Polish crafts-

, including wood carvings, embroidery and woven rugs, will be on sale. A sampling of native foods, such as paczki and gotabki, will be available for snacking. A trained troop of young dancers from Lawrence will perform at 3 p.m.

The book is a collection of Father McNulty's writings, gathered and edited by his friend and fellow Augustinian, Rev. George F. Riley, vice president of Villanova University and a Lawrence native.

Father McNulty, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. McNulty, 200 Elm St., Andover, a nationally known retreat master, was killed five and a half years ago in a trolley accident in Vienna, Austria.

A co-founder of the Mount Augustine Retreat House on Grymes Hill, Staten Island, N.Y., many of the sermons in "Words of Power" were used at his retreats. The book is intended both as an aid to those planning talks or public prayers, and as a guide in meditation.

It comprises a wide selection of homilies, eulogies, prayers, invocations and talks on various themes. Eulogies written specifically for members of the clergy and religious are included as are talks on women in the church, and marriage and family. Father McNulty was an instructor in marriage and marriage counseling.

Summer Workshop Deals With Teaching Aging

A grant from the Stevens Foundations has funded a free summer workshop on "Teaching and Learning About Aging" for teachers from public and private schools in the Greater Lawrence Area. The week-long workshop will dispel common myths and misinformation about aging while introducing teachers to models and resources for integrating aging education with curriculum and for involving older people in school programs.

The workshop will be conducted by the Teaching and Learning about Aging (TLA) Project, under the direction of Fran Pratt. The TLA Project has been operating for four years in the Acton-Boxborough Regional School District where more than 2,500 students in elementary and secondary grades are involved in the program each year. The project has been validated by the Massachusetts Department of Education and is being adopted by several communities in Massachusetts as well as other states.

It is the goal of the TLA Project to prepare young people for long life in an aging society. Today's children will live longer than any previous generation. Most of them will live well past their 70th birthday and grow old in a time when one out of five Americans is over the age of 65. Yet, they are growing up in a society that often favors the "cult of youth." Research shows that most children (like most adults) have negative attitudes about aging, tend to stereotype elderly people and fear growing old themselves. Programs of the TLA Project demonstrate that people of all ages can enjoy healthy, active and useful lives and that "young" and "old" are more alike than different.

Topics will include attitudes about aging, the aging process, historical/cultural age perspectives, economic and political issues of aging, age demographics and the future. Teachers will be introduced to audio-visual and print resources for curriculum and will receive individual assistance in planning for their classrooms. Continuing free assistance will be available through the 1983-84 school year as teachers implement their plans for aging education and inter-generational activity.

The workshop will be held Monday through Friday, July 18-22, at the Greater Lawrence Vocational Technical High School. Teachers, Grades K-12, are eligible with no charge for tuition or materials. Teachers may pay tuition for three graduate credits from the University of Lowell. Participation will be limited to the first 40 teachers who apply.

For registration forms or additional information, call the Center for Understanding Aging in Acton.

Members Night For AMC

The Andover Chapter of the Appalachian Mountain Club will conduct a Members' Night program, Wednesday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the November Club, 6 Locke St. The program includes several brief talks on hiking, backpacking,

A Desire To Be Clothes Designer Has Led To Teacher Of The Year

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Massachusetts Home Economics Teacher of the Year has a name and a face familiar to many an Andover student, past and present.

She is Emily Louise Danforth, a Doherty Junior High School sewing teacher who happened onto her job 20 years ago and never left it.

The Massachusetts Home Economics Association chose Mrs. Danforth as its teacher of the year after Assistant Superintendent Charles Mitsakos submitted her nomination in the tenth annual competition. She will be presented an award next Tuesday at a banquet in Worcester.

(As Massachusetts' home ec. teacher of the year, Mrs. Danforth was in the running for teacher of the year honors from the American Home Economics Association, but "I didn't make it," she says. "I would have liked to, but I didn't.")

The School Committee announced Mrs. Danforth's award last week, and praised her work with Andover students over the years. "She has worked for the youth of Andover as a whole, beyond the classroom and beyond the junior high level," Dr. Mitsakos said. "Many families have been touched by Mrs. Danforth."

And Superintendent Kenneth Seifert said he was "very pleased" by the award. "I must say I wasn't surprised," he added. "Mrs. Danforth brings honor to Andover's schools."

Mrs. Danforth, white-haired and dressed in lavender blouse and pants, speaks softly but with the no-nonsense manner of a veteran teacher. She is known to all as "Emmy Lou."

Growing up in Brewer, Maine, her goal was to become a clothing designer, "a very tough field to get into," the teacher says, and she wanted "an art background. The only way I could get it was through home economics."

After graduating with a degree in home economics from the University of Maine, Mrs. Danforth taught sub-primary, first- and second-grade students in Brewer for more than four years, and ninth-graders as a substitute for one year. She then taught tailoring to night school students at the University of Maine in Bangor for five years before coming to Andover.

Mrs. Danforth and her husband, Donald Danforth, moved into their Greenwood Road home 24 years ago. ("People said, Oh, you live on the road to the dump," she recalls, "and I said, 'What dump?'")

She began teaching sewing and grooming at East Junior High (now Doherty) during the spring of 1963 as a temporary substitute — and was surprised when she was invited back in September to fill the position permanently. She has been there ever since.

Her sewing classroom was moved into new quarters at the renovated Doherty this year, but that may be the least of the changes she has seen during her years in Andover. The most dramatic change happened the year that boys began to appear behind the sewing machines.

About 12 years ago, Andover became one of the first school systems to require boys to take home ec. courses, in anticipation of new laws mandating equal education for boys and girls. Mrs. Danforth did not approve of the plan at first, she remembers, and resisted the idea of boys in her classroom.

"But within a month, I thought it was great," she says. "The boys had no hesitation about using the sewing machines, which I didn't expect. They are more mechanical than the girls — they drive a sewing machine like they'd drive a car. And they can fix them when they break, too."

She ran into one problem, however: a dearth of patterns that would appeal to boys while the girls were making themselves skirts and blouses. Drawing on a skill she learned in college, Mrs. Danforth finally began designing her own patterns.

Today, her copyrighted patterns for such projects as soft luggage, book bags, and three-color duffle bags fill two thick booklets (called "Sew What?") and appeal to girls as well as boys. She tells her students that "if they can draw it, I can make a pattern for it."

During her first spring at EJH, Mrs. Danforth's students made nothing but aprons (to be used in cooking classes), and "I almost went crazy," she says. "The next year, I asked if I could write my own curriculum." The girls still made aprons — with less emphasis on hand-sewing — but they also started sewing skirts, pants and blouses.

Last fall, her eighth-graders made leather mittens lined with artificial fur, gaiters and ski bags to get ready for ski season. Other major projects have included camping equipment, gym bags and tote bags.

If the home ec. projects they work on have changed in 20 years, so have the students. "They come in much more exuberant. They talk constantly — my husband says you can hear my class from outdoors." She attributes this to a school system that is "not so rigid" as it once was, when teachers insisted that pupils "stay in their seats and be quiet."

She believes, however, that the junior high classroom environment can be jolting to students accustomed to the freedom of elementary school's open classrooms. "Seventh grade is traumatic for a lot of them — it's a little bit hard for them to adjust."

But even if her students are too noisy sometimes, they "probably like school now more than they used to. They're more creative," the teacher adds. "They can branch out on their own, and that's good."

As a teacher who has always fought to see more time devoted to home economics classes, Mrs. Danforth is disappointed that home ec. requirements will be cut back next year: ninth-graders will no longer be required to take the subject, and will be offered a single period of home ec. instead of the current double period.

"It's a shame to take it away," she says. "The ninth-graders are more independent and it's much more fun. They keep you a little more on your toes." She advocates a strong home economics program in junior high because "it's the only place students really get concentrated home economics."

Andover High School offers no sewing classes, and students who take child care and foods programs there must take those classes every day, she explains. "It's not flexible — it's more a vocational course. So if students don't get home economics here, they don't get it."

Besides teaching, Mrs. Danforth keeps in touch with Andover youth through the local Girl Scouts. Involved in scouting "ever since I was little," she is a former troop leader and now serves as a troop consultant for Andover and North Andover scout cadets (junior high age scouts). She is also on the nominating committee of the board of directors for the Spar and Spindle Council, and helps raise funds for camping trips that train scouts for future national and international excursions.

A few years ago, Mrs. Danforth set her sights on a new position as Andover's home economics coordinator. She needed a master's degree to qualify for that job, so she reluctantly took a year's sabbatical and enrolled at Framingham State College.

To her surprise, she had "a marvelous time" being back in school again, where faculty and students didn't treat her like "a white-haired lady" but accepted her. "I got a lot of new knowledge," she says. "It was just exciting."

But when she returned to Andover, she decided not to apply for the coordinator's position after all — because she learned it would not include teaching.

"I like teaching. I particularly like being with young people. I enjoy them," she explains. "Everyone knows that." (Her own two children are grown: Her daughter is a Colorado math teacher and her son, a San Francisco cardiologist).

That may be the reason her students do not forget her when they leave junior high behind. "They do come back, and I'm pleased that they do. They seem to feel that they can come to me," Emmy Lou Danforth says, "and I hope they always will."

Retraining Programs

The Massachusetts Board of Education will be asked to approve quick start programs to retrain unemployed and underemployed adults in the Commonwealth's 26 vocational high schools. Approximately $1.6 million of federal funds will be made available to provide skill training to this population for the next fiscal year.

The funds will be distributed on a competitive basis with priority given to vocational schools located in economically depressed areas which have high rates of unemployment and lack money to start their own programs. Other priority factors will include programs designed to meet new and emerging employment needs and unreimbursed construction aid.

League Nuclear Debate Postponed

League of Women Voter of Andover National Security chair Chris Young announced the postponement of the Nuclear Freeze Debate this week after consultation with the debate planning committee. The debate will be re-scheduled, probably in September, when the calendar has been cleared with principal participants.

The change was necessitated because of a conflict in scheduling of Rep. Edward J. Markey, whom the committee felt critical to the debate.

The League of Women voters of Andover will proceed with the scheduled informational and consensus units May 23 and 26. Information, now inaccurate, had been distributed to those attending the April 4 Town Meeting. Interested townspeople are asked to watch future issues of the TOWNSMAN for information about the fall event, "Is a Bilateral Nuclear Freeze Possible?"

Solar Group To Meet

The Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association will hold its monthly meeting in Room 14 of the Greater Lawrence Vocational School, 57 River Road, Andover, Wednesday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. The topic will be Passive Solar Architecture in the Northeast. A question and answer period will follow the discussion.

Room 14 is reached by driving around to the right of school, parking in the rear and entering the two-story section of the building.

The Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association is a non-profit volunteer organization of solar consumers and business people whose purpose is to assist people in using conservation and solar sources of energy. The meetings are free and open to the public. For further information, contact Julia Morse or Fred Snell of Andover.

Kites Fly High (With A Little Help From Dad)

The Kite Flying Contest, sponsored by the Department of Community Services, was off to a "flying" start Sunday, thanks to a light wind, until several kites were knocked out of the running due to neighboring trees and telephone wires. Although the children had a lot of fun seeing their kites take to the breeze, dads seemed to have the most fun racing around the Shawsheen field. Photos clockwise from upper left: Bob Lane and his daughter Danielle, 15 Balmoral St., had quite a time getting their 25 foot silver kite off the ground; Waiting for a good stiff breeze is Nora Hallice, 104 Cross St.; Doing some minor repair work on his daughter Beth's kite is Harry Lee, 196 Chandler Road; Four year old Danny Rabinovitz, 13 Arundel St., lets out the string as his kite flies high and his dad Allan helps steer; This lobster got stuck in a new trap. Trees held the fate of several kites; Three year old Ethan Murphy, 192 High Plain Road, watches his dad coax his kite off the ground; Linda Corey, 81 Lowell St., has to carry both kite and daughter Allison while she waits for the breeze to pick up.

Christian Formation Center Is Active

"Yes, of course the Christian Formation Center is still booking functions!" says Fr. Luke M. Ciampi, O.F.M., director of the Franciscan Center on River Road, West Andover. Rumors are just rumors and must be discounted in the face of the facts.

The Christian Formation Center rents classroom, lecture hall, auditorium, dining room and other space for retreats, workshops, seminars, business meetings and luncheons, receptions, showers and the like. Nicholas Hapshe, though retired from active service, handles booking arrangements and supervises the physical plant for the Franciscan Friars.

A Holy Hour of Eucharistic Adoration and Benediction is held in the center chapel on Tuesdays from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The Formation Center runs a Bingo game on Wednesday, beginning with Early Bird at 7 p.m. The Community of God's Light, a Merrimack Valley Charismatic Prayer group, meets every Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The center operates a gift shop from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for the sale of religious items for special occasions.

On May 28 the center will inaugurate a Pre-Cana course for engaged couples, in cooperation with the Family Life Apostolate of the Archdiocese of Boston. It is hoped a Lay Ministry Institute will be established soon and a workshop on the various Eastern Rites in use in the Merrimack Valley area.

Hole-In-One Contest Benefits Youth Program

A Hole-In-One Contest will be hosted by Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover Memorial Day Weekend, Saturday, May 28, through Monday, May 30. All proceeds will go to Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Greater Lawrence to provide services to children 7-16 years old who need a consistent long-term relationship with an adult friend.

Prizes include a 17-inch television set for the first golfer to get a hole-in-one; a sleeve of golf balls to anyone hitting a shot within 15 feet of the hole; and either a 1984 golf membership or a certificate to the Health & Fitness Center at Sheraton Rolling Green to the male and female who hits closest to the hole during the three-day event.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters is supported by the Merrimack Valley United Fund, but additional funds must be raised to meet the growth in number of children served and expansion of service to Haverhill-Newburyport. The agency has 105 children who have Big Brothers or Big Sisters and seeks adult volunteers

Elks Lodge To Honor Mothers

Receives Master's Degree

Katherine J. Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Robinson, 50 Wild Rose Drive, received her Master of Architecture Degree from the University of Michigan on Saturday, April 30, in ceremonies in Crisler Arena on the Ann Arbor campus. Address to the graduating class was made by Lee A. Iacocca, chairman of the board, Chrysler Corporation.

Earlier in the month Kathie was initiated into Tau Sigma Delta, the architectural honorary fraternity, in recognition of her standing in the upper 20 percent of her graduating class.

During her two years in Ann Arbor she served as chairman of the property committee of the Wesley Foundation located at First United Methodist Church. She served as co-chair of the fund-raising drive as an integral portion of the "Heritage Project" involved in recording the history of the foundation and in the restoration of the Wesley wing of the church building.

Kathie was a 1976 graduate of Andover High and a 1980 graduate of the University of Virginia (B.S. Arch.). She has been employed by firms of De Francesca and Baker in Boston and Envirosigns of Brighton.

Lecture Will Deal With Eating Disorders

If you have a consistent fear of gaining weight or a lingering feeling of depression about your weight and body-image, then it's possible you may be suffering from an eating disorder, either anorexia nervosa or bulimia. Both conditions can potentially cause severe long-term medical and psychological complications. Bon Secours Hospital will offer an evening lecture titled "Anorexia and Bulimia: Facing the Facts" on Wednesday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital auditorium. Topics will include: a personal account of what it is like to be a bulimic; an overview of the problem; a look at the medical complications caused by such disorders as well as their treatment; and what research is being conducted regarding the relationship between depression and the onset of eating disorders. An extensive question-and-answer period will follow the panel presentations.

Speakers will include Donald Pugatch, M.D., P.C., medical director; Jennifer Kellye, R.N., M.Ed., psychiatric clinical nurse specialist; Katherine Maxwell, R.N., B.S.N., psychiatric clinical nurse specialist, from Eating Disorders Associates in Andover and Susan Holzman, M.D., M.S., psychosomatic fellow, Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston, and Harrison G. Completes Training

Pvt. James M. Boyle, son of Carol V. Boyle, 77 Edgelawn Avenue, North Andover, completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

The use of ether for anesthesia was discovered by two Americans, a dentist and a doctor, working independently in the 1840's.

Juneau, Alaska, is named for Joe Juneau, who, with Richard Harris, discovered gold there in 1880.

Waste Cleanup Saturday

Large piles of trash at curbside all over town this week and a growing collection of attractive usable goods donated to the May 14 Recycling Sale-A-Bration have indicated that Andover residents have done a thorough job of spring housecleaning.

How much attention have zealous spring cleaners paid to safety, though? Have containers half-full of potentially dangerous chemicals been discarded to go first into the refuse truck's compactor to be ground up with other chemicals and then into an ordinary landfill? Household chemicals used according to directions and completely used up should present no problems. All to often, though, quantities of furniture stripper, oven cleaner, oil-base paint, pool chemicals and other substances remain after the job is done and may become unnecessary or unfit to use, but dangerous to throw in the trash.

Fortunately, Andover's Household Hazardous Waste Clean-Up Day will present the ideal way to dispose safely of such chemicals, as well as expired prescription drugs, old lithium batteries, old chemistry sets and numerous other throw-aways that might harm water, wildlife or people, if buried in ordinary landfills.

Imagine what a mad scientist's dream of combinations and breakdowns must be going on constantly in the backs of many trash trucks! The chemist from Recycling Industries of Braintree, who will supervise the collection of chemical waste for Andover residents on Saturday, pointed out in a recent interview that fires occasionally break out in trash trucks from the reaction of swimming pool chlorine with other substances. We hear every day about some unfortunate community whose water supply or atmosphere has been contaminated by careless disposal of certain chemicals.

Clean-Up Day will be held at the West Junior High parking lot from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 7. Proof of residency will be required for free disposal of up to two gallons of liquid or two pounds of solid in marked containers. User fees will be charged for amounts over the limit. For further information, call the Health Board, Mrs. Richard Bakulski or Mrs. Paul Hollenbeck.

Merrimack River To Be Discussed Before Planners

The Merrimack River is the outstanding feature of northeast Massachusetts. For two centuries industry, commerce, transportation facilities and housing have tended to locate along or near the river. Even today the river is a focal point for economic development as mill buildings are reutilized and nearby downtowns renovated. Along with such an intensive use of the river came very high levels of pollution. In fact, only 15 years ago many persons believed a river clean up was a hopeless case.

The recent improvement to the Merrimack River's quality, due to the collective efforts of citizens, industry, and local, state and federal governments, is truly one of the greatest achievements in the region's history.

What's actually happened to the Merrimack and what does its future look like? Find out at the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission's Annual Dinner Meeting May 5 at the Haverhill Country Club. Anthony Cortese, commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, will speak about the river and answer questions. His department is responsible for developing, administering and enforcing programs which regulate matters pertaining to air, surface water and groundwater, water supply, solid and hazardous waste and wetlands and oversees the use of many grant programs and the issuance of permits.

Cortese is a nationally recognized authority in his field and serves as chairman of the Subcommittee on Environmental Regulatory Reform for the National Governor's Association.

The public is invited to attend the dinner meeting. Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m.; dinner at 7 p.m. Call Dianne O'Neil at the commission office for reservations.

Amadeus

John Pankow will replace Mark Hamill in the role of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart in the Peter Shaffer award-winning play, "Amadeus," at the Shubert Theatre through May 21. John Wood also stars as Antonio Salieri.

Hamill stated, "Touring has become stressful for the family, with my newborn son (born March 4) and my other son, Nathan, 3½. I am very disappointed that I will not be coming to Boston since the two cities I was most interested in playing were San Francisco and Boston."

Realism To Be Topic At Series

Andover Fine Arts will close the Focus On Art series with a talk by John Arthur, writer, critic and well-known authority on Realism in contemporary American painting, on Monday, May 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover Gallery, 68 Park St., Andover.

During his years as curator and director of the Boston University Art Gallery, 1971-79, Arthur produced a number of exhibitions which had a significant impact on the American art scene. In 1976 he curated "AMERICA 1976," a Bicentennial exhibition of important landscape paintings by prominent American artists, sponsored by the U.S. Department of the Interior. That same year he was responsible for the distinguished Alfred Leslie exhibition, which opened at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and travelled to other major museums across the country. In 1978 he was curator for "Richard Estes: The Urban Landscape," an outstanding exhibition of one of the acknowledged masters of Photo-Realist painting. Arthur also wrote the catalogue for that exhibition, which has become the definitive text on Estes' work to that date.

In conjunction with Arthur's talk, a number of realist paintings and prints will be on exhibit at the Andover Gallery until Wednesday, May 11, and available through Andover Fine Arts after that.

Seats for Arthur's talk will be sold to non-subscribers of the Focus On Art series on a first come-first served basis. Advance reservations may be made by calling the Andover Gallery.

Mrs. George Appointed Director Of Arts Group

Andover resident, Tamsen E. George, was appointed executive director of Young Audiences of Massachusetts, state chapter of the national non-profit organization. Previously she has been director of public relations at Dana Hall School in Wellesley.

Young Audiences presents professional performing arts programs in schools across Massachusetts. This year's roster includes 14 accredited performing ensembles in dance, opera, mime and instrumental music. The groups are chosen for their talent and ability to interact with children.

George finds it exciting to work with performing arts at a time when there is a ground swell of interest in putting the arts back into education. She is participating as a panelist and speaking on this topic at the Massachusetts Elementary School Principals' Conference in Hyannis in May.

Part of her job is fundraising. Young Audiences subsidizes program costs as the fees charged for the performances cover artists' wages and very little overhead. The organization also fund raises to help towns which otherwise could not afford to have live performances in their schools. George is especially pleased to have secured a grant from the Stevens Foundation of North Andover to subsidize some of the costs of Young Audiences programs in schools in Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Andover.

With these funds, Project A.R.T.S. in North Andover is working with Young Audiences to plan performances for their arts festival May 12-14. George is especially pleased that her own town of Andover will have Bartholomew's Fair, an ensemble specializing in ancient instruments and medieval music, in the four elementary schools on June 14, 15 and 16.

Further information about Young Audiences may be obtained at their booth at the arts festival in the North Andover High School field house on May 14 or by calling their office in Boston. George will miss this arts festival because she will be in Portland, Ore., for the Young Audiences national conference.

Hospital Fashion Show

Lois-Ann Whitney of Andover models an outfit that would be perfect for a shopping trip during a dinner recently held to honor Lawrence General Hospital volunteers. All fashions in the show came from the hospital Aid Association Thrift Shop.

Admission is free with tickets available at the museum reception desk starting at 2 p.m. Seating is limited and available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Famed Writer Visits Phillips

Jorge Luis Borges holds a conversation with Phillips Academy English and Foreign Language faculty during the famed Argentinian's three-day stay on the Andover campus.

By Helen M. Eccles

Jorge Luis Borges, the famed Argentinian writer, spent three days on the Phillips Academy campus talking to students and faculty and answering questions. It was an extraordinary opportunity for students to meet and talk to Borges, most respected of writers who holds more international awards than any other living author.

Headmaster Donald W. McNemar welcomed the 83-year-old writer, noting that for 15 years Phillips Academy students have been reading and discussing his works in both Spanish and English literature classes. He is the author of "Fictions," "Labyrinths," "The Aleph and Other Stories" and "The Book of Imaginary Beings," among others.

Borges, blind for many years, made himself completely available to students and teachers. With great seriousness, humour and empathy, he answered questions on subjects of literature, identity, the life of writing and of the spirit. He abjures politics, describing himself only as one who loves his country, but is deeply saddened by conditions there now. When he spoke of his favorites in literature—Old English, Spanish, French, Viking, English and American, prose and poetry—he illustrated with quotations drawn melodiously from his vast memory. Among his favorite American writers, he mentioned Melville, Twain and Robert Frost.

Boston Lyric Opera Company announces a major festival for the East Coast. The rarely performed, "Der Ring des Nibelungen" by Richard Wagner will be staged this summer by the Boston Lyric Opera Company in Boston and New York. This fully staged uncut production is inspired by last summer's successful concert performances of the Ring Cycle by the Boston Lyric Opera Company. Aside from the full Ring Cycle by the Seattle Opera, this is the only production of the entire Ring scheduled this summer.

mer in the United States. Throughout the World, artists and audiences are commemorating the works of Wagner in this centenary year of his death in 1883.

He was honored by a recital of Argentine music by Argentinian pianist Arminda Canteros on Saturday, arranged by Sr. Angel Rubio, chairman of the Phillips Academy Spanish Department, who made the arrangements for Borges' visit.

On Sunday evening Borges met the entire student body in George Washington Hall in a question and answer format, moderated by K. Kelly Wise, English instructor and acting dean of the faculty. The English and Foreign Language department faculty met with him Monday noon for a small reception and conversation and questions, more questions; Borges seemed never to tire of engaging with people and ideas. This was the first trip where the Argentinian writer has visited American students of high school age; he called their questions "more spontaneous" than those of university students, serious and from the heart.

After lunch at the Andover Inn, where he was staying, Borges left to fly to Canada where Prime Minister Trudeau and a reception of the President of Canada and a select group of Canada's foremost writers awaited him on Tuesday.

Named Director Of Academy Campaign

Cornelia Weldon LeMaitre, 8 Sunset Rock Road, Andover, an Abbot alumna with extensive experience in school development and public relations, will be Phillips Academy's new director of annual giving. Mrs. LeMaitre, now director of development at the Pike School in Andover, will succeed Sandra Urie Thorpe '70 who will leave in August to enroll in the Yale Graduate School of Organization and Management and join her husband, dean of the faculty at the Kingswood-Oxford School in West Hartford, CT.

Mrs. LeMaitre, a class agent for Andover's Class of 1953 and a PA parent, established the professional organization of development at Pike School in 1979, and the annual fund has tripled under her direction. She also serves as assistant to the headmaster in admissions. In the previous five years she did freelance work for Corporate Images of Boston, assisting in publicity for the Channel 2 Auction. In community affairs Mrs. LeMaitre is treasurer and past president of the board of trustees of Memorial Hall Library, involved in planning a projected $4 million addition to the library and was a trustee of Lowell University, 1975-79, appointed by Gov. Dukakis during the merger of Lowell State University and Lowell Technological Institute. She has served on the board of directors of the Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence and the Lawrence General Hospital Aid Association.

She and her husband, Dr. George D. LeMaitre, a local physician, are parents of two current Andover students, Matthew and Ellen in the junior class; two Andover alumni, Kathleen '80 and George '82; and James, in his last year at Pike School.

Cornelia W. LeMaitre

Secretary of the Academy Joseph C. Mesics said, "I am most happy that Connie LeMaitre has decided to join our Office of Academy Resources team. Sandy Thorpe has done a marvelous job in bringing together our Andover and Abbot alumni families in a very professional manner. I am confident that Connie will take the baton and move our annual giving program ahead without missing a stride."

As an Abbot student, Connie Weldon was president of the day students in student government and graduated cum laude. She received her B.A. from Newton College of

Awaiting Real Prize

Sandy Sullivan, winner of the top prize in a pizza contest, serves up a slice to son Scott, four-years-old. This particular special morsel is Mexican in theme with some sour cream sauce to top it off.

A Mexican Pizza Wins First Prize

By Sue Aucella Deacon

If you want to win a pizza-recipe contest, Sandy Sullivan says, you've got to come up with something a little different.

She must know what she's talking about, because Sandy won a pizza contest last week on WNEV-TV's (Channel 7) "Look" program with her own decidedly different recipe for tequila pizza.

Mrs. Sullivan, who lives on Wellington Circle with husband Richard and their three children, bested 30 other contestants — many of them professional pizza-makers — by impressing four judges with her spicy, Mexican-style pizza.

Her prize-winning recipe is a secret, but she confides that the key ingredients sparking the traditional pizza sauce and bread-like crust on her pizza are Monterey Jack cheese, jalapeno peppers — and, of course, tequila.

Sandy sent in her recipe "as a lark" after she heard the contest announced on the Monday-through-Friday, magazine-style live television show. "I thought it would be fun," she explains, "so I took it from there. I was really surprised by how it turned out."

The Sullivans are a pizza-loving family who also developed a love for Mexican food while living in St. Louis, Mo. "The Midwest is a great place for Mexican food — Mexican food is to the Midwest as Greek food is around here."

But when the Sullivans moved to Andover three years ago, the "really spicy" food they love proved hard to find. So Sandy put their craving for Mexican food together with their love for pizza and her interest in "experimenting" with cooking, and tequila pizza was born.

Sandy arrived at the "Look" studios in Government Center, Boston, at one o'clock last Wednesday afternoon, bringing two samples of her pizza (already baked) as instructed and neighbor Helen Hermann for moral support. She was dismayed to find that roughly 75 percent of the other 30 contestants were "professional pizza people", among them restaurant owners and experienced chefs.

The four judges included the owners of Pizzeria Uno of Chicago (and more recently, Boston) fame and the North End's legendary Regina's Pizza.

During the three hours until the show's four o'clock air time, the contestants brought slices of their pizza to the judges for sampling, ran through one rehearsal, and waited nervously in the lounge. "It was nerve-wracking," Sandy says. "It felt like my first job interview all over again."

Once Mrs. Sullivan got on the air at about five o'clock, "Look" host Ann Butler interviewed her briefly about herself and her pizza. (Butler in person is "just like she is on television," Sandy says, "so calm and

Students Win Awards In State Competition

A team of students from Andover's Gifted and Talented Program won first and second place awards in statewide competition in Creative Problem Solving at the University of Massachusetts in Boston Saturday, April 30.

The team, consisting of Sanborn School students Sheryl Manies, Gene Park, Nicole Belleisle and West Elementary School student, Shaleen Cassily, has participated over the past year in the Future Problem Solving Program, a national program originated in 1975 by E. Paul Torrance, widely recognized specialist in the field of creativity and gifted education. Along with others in the Leadership Program that is part of the Gifted and Talented Program, these children learned the entire process of Creative Problem Solving and applied it to three practice problems dealing with such topics as robotics and underwater colonization. More than 100 teams from all over Massachusetts participated, but only six teams at the junior level (Grades 4-6) were invited, based on their performance on the practice problems, to participate in the statewide bowl. All evaluations of the students' work was done by staff from the Honeywell Corporation, co-sponsors of the event with the Mass. Association for Advancement of Individual Potential (MA/AIP).

Helen Calan, who coached the team all year and taught them the Creative Problem Solving Process, attended the all-day competition along with Janis R. Baron, coordinator of Andover's Gifted and Talented Program.

The topic of the event was computers and the world of finance. Students were expected to apply the CPS method to a specific imaginary problem of the future. They spent 2½ hours working as a team, without the coach's assistance. Andover placed second.

In the afternoon students were asked to prepare for the "Solution-Selling" portion of the program, where they had 1½ hours to improvise a skit that would sell their solution to the judges. Andover placed first and received plaques as well as ribbons for their work.

Nationwide, more than 30,000 students participate in the future Problem Solving Andover High track teams pick up rocks before beginning their daily workout in preparation for state meet.

Avoiding A Reception On The Rocks

Members of the Andover High Boys and Girls track teams had a little extra workout last week, starting their daily routine by picking up rocks off the new playing fields at the Shawsheen Road campus.

That the young athletes began preparations for a major state meet last weekend with this type of workout is commendable and displays the interest of public spirited students.

With the majority of Andover High students, particularly athletes, this is almost an accepted attribute, and not the point of this commentary.

The students had to do the work simply because either the town's park department or contractors who installed the fields had not rectified conditions.

Last Saturday Andover hosted the state relays, with a large number of competitors, coaches, parents and fans due to participate and attend. There was a need to rid the fields of the rocks, primarily for safety but also for proper maintenance of equipment used in field events.

Town officials were apprised of the conditions early in the spring when the teams, track, baseball and others using the fields, began their seasonal drills.

Despite continued efforts to get some action on the fields, nothing was done, with the result the track team went out and did it themselves last Thursday afternoon.

The Warrior baseball team has even more problems. Wet fields, plus the rocks, have prevented the team from adequate practice areas. The team must play its varsity games at the Doherty school grounds this season, due to a time element in allowing the new high school fields to take shape.

What makes the rock situation in particular more bothersome is the fact that under a recently-approved administrative realignment of the town, the parks, cemetery and forestry departments have been placed under a single head, Superintendent James Bamford. These departments no longer function under the department of public works domain.

It is not unreasonable to assume that such realignment was done with an eye toward more efficient operations and effective deployment of available personnel.

And, there should be little doubt about the need to accomplish the work on the school fields, regardless of responsibility. If there were contractual problems, then the town should have cleaned the area up and argued about it later.

Hopefully, such problems will be avoided in the future through the efficiency proposed in creating this new triumvirate department.

Report To Andover

By Rep. Sue Tucker

"...And Now For The Rest Of The Story"

The notion that the Legislature or the Governor is trying to dismantle Proposition 2½ is, in my estimation, utterly mistaken. Unfortunately, the notion that this entire scenario over the past few weeks illustrates some slippery power plays which resulted in a political farce is true.

By sharing with you the honest considerations which were a part of my vote on this issue, I hope to raise some important questions about how the Legislature functions, my role as your state representative and perhaps most importantly, the relationship between suburban and urban communities in Massachusetts.

Rep. Sue Tucker

Last week the TOWNSMAN mistakenly indicated that the Legislature had conducted a simple "pro" or "con" vote on Proposition 2½. If this were true, I can assure you that my vote as well as the vote of many other legislators who support Proposition 2½ would have been different. But, as commentator Paul Harvey says, "here's the rest of the story."

Proposition 2½ was a necessary and positive statute for a state in which government mismanagement, spending and reliance on the property tax were out of control. It has been used as a political football and been poorly implemented in many communities, but the overall impact has been decidedly beneficial. Proposition 2½ has changed collective conscience about government spending, the business climate and a healthy economy. Most importantly, the bottom line shows that state and local taxes, as a percentage of personal income, have decreased in Massachusetts and increased in a majority of other states.

So easy to forget are two facts: 1. Proposition 2½ could not work without massive infusion of state aid to communities; 2. Proposition 2½ has affected communities very unequally, from no service reductions in some towns, to huge reductions every year in primarily large, urban centers.

Now it's April 1983 and the Governor had to decide the hottest political issue of the year: how to distribute over $2 billion in state aid to cities and towns in an equitable manner to help make Proposition 2½ work. Many experts spent hundreds of hours poring over various distribution formulas. I was extremely concerned that suburban aid would be slashed and distributed to cities experiencing worse fiscal problems. When the Governor released his aid formula, I was delighted: about $5 million translates into many services for Andover citizens and students.

But a not-so-funny thing happened on the way to this local aid plan. Legislative leaders, some who represent cities in the third year of cuts, struck a "deal" with the Governor: allow only those 11 communities which still have to reduce their levy, to stretch the cut, by a city council vote, over two years, and we will accept your formula. Otherwise, it's back to the drawing board for a new formula which would put Andover's aid in jeopardy.

Clearly, this put several legislators in a position where both a "yes" and a "no" vote appeared

JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Reagan reportedly reluctant to criticize Soviets on SALT IIBy Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — President Reagan has decided not to denounce the Soviet Union publicly for violating the SALT II agreement. Neither side has formally ratified the treaty, but both the United States and the Soviets have promised informally to abide by it — as long as the other side does.

The reason the president has backed away from a public attack on the Soviets is that he doesn't want to give them ammunition for their claim that he is a warmonger.

Now we've learned that President Reagan has gone even farther than agreeing not to chide the Soviets for their violations of SALT II. Behind the scenes, the president has personally reversed two major defense decisions. They are:

— A decision to deploy 50 Minuteman III nuclear missiles in the U.S. President Reagan decided against the move on the grounds that the Russians might claim that these missiles violate SALT II because they have multiple nuclear warheads.

— A decision involving B-52 bombers. The United States will now adopt an expensive system under which the Soviets can identify which of our bombers are carrying cruise missiles, and even count the number of missiles. That was a provision of the SALT II agreement.

So the president is taking pains to go the extra mile with the Soviets on SALT II.

Unfortunately, the Russians don't seem to be willing to reciprocate. We've previously quoted a top-secret CIA report that shows the Soviets are doing everything they can to keep the United States from finding out whether they're building new weapons in violation of the treaty.

For example, SALT II forbids putting too much of a missile's radio signals in code during tests. Yet the Soviets keep increasing the amount of coded signals on their test missiles. On Feb. 8, the Russians launched a missile that had 100 percent of its signals in code.

President Reagan knows all about these Soviet violations, of course. But his aides advised him that he should not go public with his complaint. They're afraid Congress will think it is just a political ploy to win approval of the president's defense budget.

Reagan's aides are also afraid the press would seize on a presidential condemnation of the Soviets as a sign that the administration no longer intends to abide by the SALT II agreement.

SHIITE TERRORISTS: The Central Intelligence Agency is convinced that Shiite Moslems are responsible for the recent bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, which killed 17 Americans. The incident was just one in a string of similar attacks perpetrated by radical Shiites.

U.S. intelligence sources believe the terrorists have connections with Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini, who is believed to be using them to foment worldwide revolution. A few examples:

— The CIA has learned that Khomeini planned to use the Shiites to stir up riots last summer throughout Saudi Arabia, which is controlled by rival Sunni Moslems.

— Some of the same dissident students who took over the American Embassy in Tehran in 1979 were later dispatched to Egypt shortly before President Anwar Sadat was killed. Intelligence analysts suspect they may have played a role in plotting Sadat's assassination.

— The government of Turkey recently uncovered an attempt by 33 Shiites to create an Islamic state within that country. They were charged with attempted murder and possession of weapons.

Meanwhile, U.S. intelligence experts believe that the Syrian intelligence services, headed by the brother of Syrian President Hafez Assad, provided secret aid to the Shiite Moslems who reportedly carried out the Beirut attack.

Syrian leaders want the United States out of Lebanon and apparently believe that the best way to achieve this goal is to kill the Americans who are stationed there.

THE PRESSER FILE: Colorful Cleveland strongman Jackie Presser has been elected president of the powerful Teamsters union, but his rise to power is no surprise to the Justice Department. Officials there have been keeping a close eye on him for years.

Douglas Roller, the U.S. attorney who prosecuted Presser's predecessor, Roy Williams, co-authored a report on organized crime and labor unions in 1977. The report stated that Presser's "goal is reportedly the presidency of the international Teamsters union." Added the report: "The organized crime affiliation and involvement of Presser through, and independent of, the Teamsters Union are well documented."

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Intelligence sources say that more than 1,000 Solidarity activists are at large in Poland, despite the best efforts of the military regime's secret police to ferret them out. Solidarity's top leaders have eluded the authorities by changing their identities, dying their hair and altering their facial features.

— Some scientists are saying that international treaties will have to be adopted to keep space exploration under control, but this will cause problems for President Reagan. His scheme for space-based weapons will keep the White House from supporting any treaty that might hamstring the plan.

A quick shower in the morning has become a way of life for most Americans. When combined with a bathtub, a shower unit becomes a very versatile bathroom fixture. Its wall surfaces rise from the top of the tub to the ceiling. Whether made from molded or laminated plastic or ceramic tile, a moisture resistant seal is formed. A shower head of flexible metal tubing has long been used in Europe. Americans are now discovering that this attachment can be hand held for rinsing. It otherwise remains attached to its fixed wall position for regular use.

Your bathroom can be as simple or as elaborately designed as you desire. Here at WINDSOR KITCHENS we offer an extensive design service for your bath or kitchen from start to finish and most important of all "we clean as we go along". Come in and browse Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30; Fri. 9-8; Sat. 9-4 thru our shop here in Ward Hill on Rte. 125 just 1/2 mile north of Western Electric or phone 372-3444 for details or an evening appointment. We would also like to take this time to wish all our women readers and customers a very Happy Mother's Day.

Netmen Sweep Matches

The Andover High School boys tennis team continued their winning ways as they swept all three matches this past week. After being rained out on Monday and Tuesday, the netmen travelled to Lawrence on Wednesday to completely shut down the Lancers, winning every game in the entire match. Freshman Jeff Chiang defeated Rick Kaelin 6-0, 6-0; Gregg Eaton defeated Chuck Mears 6-0, 6-0; Tom Kannam defeated Scott Parker 6-0, 6-0. The first doubles team of Dave Bates and Whitney Bailey defeated Tony Sarkis and Kevin Giblin, and the second doubles team of Mark Perlowski and Steve Perlberg defeated Louis Collazo and Kevin Wilson 6-0, 6-0. In junior varsity doubles Paul Finnegan and Billy Bruno defeated their opponents 6-0, 6-0, finishing off a whitewashing of an inexperienced Lancer tennis team.

Andover hosted the Reggies of Greater Lawrence on Thursday, making up their rained out match. The Golden Warriors shut out the Reggies by winning all five varsity matches and both junior varsity matches. Chiang defeated Nick Ricci 6-1, 6-1; Eaton held off Tim Wicks 6-4, 6-4 and Kannam defeated Neftali Vasquez 6-2, 6-0. In the doubles Bates and Bailey defeated Mark Ratcliffe and Gil Barbera 6-1, 6-2 and Steve Perlberg and Tod Deery defeated Jose Reynoso and Mark Azzariot 6-1, 6-0.

In junior varsity action Andover's Finnegan and Damon Dyer defeated Scott Larocque and Derek Donohue 6-0, 6-0. Bruno made it an Andover sweep by defeating Mark Wilbert 6-0.

Andover won its third match in as many days on Friday by turning back a tough Lowell High squad 4-1. Chiang raised his personal record to 6-0 by defeating Gerald Chertavian 6-1, 6-1. Lowell took the second singles match 6-4, 6-2 as Pat McCall downed Eton. In an exciting third singles match Kannam came back from a two-game deficit and took the first set 7-6 (7-2 in tiebreaker) and the second set 6-4 over Peter Kokas.

Bates and Bailey had no trouble with Ben Woo and Norman Robillard, winning 6-0, 6-1. Perlowski and Perlberg defeated Bob Panessiti and Jim O'Brien. They took the first set 6-3 and were up 5-1 in the second, but Lowell stormed back to force a tiebreaker which Andover won 8-6 to win the second set 7-6. In junior varsity action Tod Deery and Dyer defeated Bob Violette and Jim Flynn 6-3, 6-3 and Finnegan and Bruno defeated Justin Reardon and Dan Panessiti 6-4, 6-2.

Andover is now 5-1 on the season. Their next home match is next Wednesday when they try to revenge an early season loss to Billerica.

Warrior Runners Top Haverhill

The Andover High boys track team took their undefeated 3-0 record to the track against undefeated Haverhill High and came away with an impressive 81-64 victory. This victory was especially big because Haverhill is one of the top teams in the Merrimack Valley and last year beat Andover in the final meet of the season to win the MVC Championship.

Andover took eight first places to Haverhill's nine, but took more second and thirds than Haverhill did.

Andover took the only sweeps of the day in the pole vault and the 330 yard low hurdles. In the pole vault E.J. Perry did 12', Ed Hardy 11'6" and Mike Lucey 11'. Lucey also ran a great time of 18.5 seconds to win the 120 high hurdles with Keith Driscoll taking third. In the 330's Peter Comeau and Bob Stabile again proved their strength by easily outdistancing any other competitors. Again Driscoll took third.

Comeau, along with Ian Dowe, John Driscoll and Dave Casanave, took first in the 440 yard relay.

Andover took only one first in the field events but still lost only one point to Haverhill. In the javelin throw John McLellan continued his undefeated season winning by 33' with Kurt Oliver second. Dowe placed second in the shotput. Sophomore Andy Thompson took second in the long jump with sophomore Tom Lutz placing third. Lutz also placed second in the high jump with a leap of 6'1". Steve Hebeisen did a tremendous job in the triple jump by placing third because Haverhill has two jumpers who placed in last year's state meet. In the discus throw Dean Richmond continued his success by placing first while sophomore Glen Livermore placed third.

Andover didn't take a first in the sprints, but took most of the seconds and thirds. Dowe and John Barry placed second and third, respectively, in the 100 yard dash. Wayne Giles ran 23.9 and Billy Martin 24.2 in the 220 yard dash to take second and third. Larry Caddy, who just turned eligible (came from a prep school) ran a 52.8 to take second in the 440 yard run.

In the three distance events Andover took two first, one second and three thirds to outscore Haverhill 16-11. In the 880 Rick Desmarais ran 2:00.6 and John Hevehan 2:07.5 to take first and third. In the two mile Rick Dow came within one second of the school record with a blazing 9:38.6 seconds to take second. Jerry Duggan ran his third best time ever 10:04 to capture third. Carl Schwind had no problem winning the mile, running a 4:30. Tony Holbrook ran a season's best, taking third in 4:45.8.

There are three ways of advertising a swimming pool. You can advertise a pool with none of the things that you need with it (sort of like advertising a car without an engine or wheels). You could advertise it with only some of the things it needs (sure, wheels are included, but tires are extra). Or you could be a pool professional.

This complete accessory package contains everything that most people require to open and operate a pool. We include it with this pool because there is one prime ingredient in everything we sell. HONESTY.

Come in today. We'll show you the right pool (we have over 100 from which to choose) at the right price. That's why we're the Pool Professionals.

Cubs 13 - Braves 5

Neil Hendry's Cubs solidified second place by upping their record to 3-1 over the hard-luck Braves.

Steve Mollineaux was the winning pitcher. Hitting power was supplied by Russell, Darwin, Hendry, Ferris and Bryan Page for the Cubs.

Braves stars were Seth Dannon and Eddie Chaisson.

Yankees 2 - Tigers 1

In a key ballgame featuring the league's only two unbeaten teams, Ian O'Neal of the Tigers and Pat Breen of the Yankees hooked up in a tight pitchers' duel. O'Neal had nine strikeouts and Breen 14 in this very well played game. The Tigers scored in the third inning when Steve Howes hit a long triple and then scored on a wild pitch. The Yankees scored both of their runs in the top of the sixth when Josh Malitsky hit a single and advanced to third on Breen's double. A catcher's interference call loaded the bases with no outs. David Daye walked to force in one run and the winning run scored on a single by Brian Davies when the relay throw was late.

Offensive standouts for the Tigers were O'Neal (two walks) and Howes (single and triple); for the Yankees, Malitsky (single) Breen (two doubles) and Davies (single).

Making some fine defensive plays for the Tigers were Sean Ryan (five assists) and Jose Guerra. Yankees standouts were David Hughes and Daye.

Indians 15 - Red Sox 7

The Indians used 11 hits to beat the Red Sox at West Elementary. Matt Pothier led the Indians with three hits (one double). John Pike and Jamie Spinelli (one double) each had two hits, John Glynn, Peter Donegan, Derek Camarota and Todd Roycroft added singles.

The Red Sox also hit well with Kevin Foley (one triple), Andy Weiner (two doubles) and Tyler Vadebonceur each getting two hits. Dan Fay hit a bases-loaded triple and Robbie Stoltz and Jeremy Gibson had singles.

Defensively Bryan Smith stood out for the Indians.

David Milne and Vadebonceur pitched for the Red Sox. Pothier and Glynn combined to win it for the Indians.

Yankees 8 - Twins 7

The American League Yankees opened a 6-0 lead after the second inning and then had to hang on for an 8-7 victory over the Twins on Saturday. The Yankee runs were scored on singles by Pat Hayes, John Davies, Brian Davies and Pat Breen. Others contributing offensively were David Jaye and Josh Malitsky. Pitching very effectively were Breen, Malitsky and Davies, who had to come in the sixth inning to shut the Twins down after they scored five runs and had the bases loaded when the game ended.

Bantams

Sapuppo against Swampscott in a 2-2 tie. He fired the puck from the red line and struck the boards at the blue line to glide miraculously under the goalie's stick and directly into the center of the net.

Andover vs. Tewksbury

In a well-played game at Wilmington the Bantams pulled off a 4-3 over Tewksbury in the final two minutes. O'Brien fired home the winner with assists from Allard and Donovan. Heseltine opened the scoring with an assist from Bartle. Tim Donovan scored the next two goals on assists from Young and Trede.

Andover vs. Wilmington

In a must win situation the Bantams took on a strong Wilmington team. Najjar started in goal and was beaten cleanly by a well setup shot. This would be the last goal for Wilmington. Sapuppo blasted home the tying goal from the point on a great pass from O'Brien in the corner. McNeil was in the slot as Young dashed around the net and laid a perfect pass on his stick. McNeil guided the eventual winner home.

Three more goals in the second period were icing on the cake. O'Brien from Abdo, Gilmartin from Bartle and Heseltine from Bartle moved the Bantams closer to first place. Young played shutout hockey in the nets for a period and a half.

Andover vs. Swampscott

In an early morning game in Danvers the Bantams took on the first-place Swampscott team. The teams had played four times previously and stood even with records of 1-1-2. Andover was in need of two points and a win to maintain their hold on fourth place and a place in the playoffs. Trede was playing his first game as a forward and showed his eagerness by banging home the first goal of the period on assists from Allard and Gilmartin. Swampscott was quick to tie the score in the opening minutes of the second period. Sapuppo sent Andover ahead as he cleared the puck off the boards at the blue line and was on his way to the end when everybody roared as the goalie swung and missed the slowly moving puck and the hard-working co-captain had his easiest goal of the season. But, the team records would remain the same as Swampscott pulled its goalie with 36 seconds remaining and with the faceoff in Andover's end, they scored the tying goal. Andover would have to wait for Beverly to lose its last game if they were to make it to the playoffs.

Andover vs. Lynn

Going into the last regular season game at Danvers the Bantams blew Lynn off the ice with an 8-0 shutout. Najjar and Young were unbeatable. Allard led all scorers with four goals, Sapuppo had two and Donovan and Young put the win on the board with single goals. Assists went to Gilmartin (3), Donovan (2), Bartle (4), Heseltine (2) and Young. They tied Beverly for fourth place and qualified for the playoffs ahead of Beverly because they scored more team goals and allowed less goals against them.

Andover vs. Swampscott

(Semifinal Round)

The Bantams were handicapped by the absence of five key players due to injuries and previous commitments. Najjar had the unusual assignment of playing the entire game in goal. It was his best game by far. At the six-minute mark of the first period Donovan controlled the puck in the corner and carried it behind the net to make a quick pass to Trede who spotted Allard in the slot and the Bantams had a 1-0 lead. Najjar held the lead until the seven-minute mark of the third period before being beaten on a screen shot from the left circle. The regular game ended in a tie. The Bantams were a tired team, having lost Shine to an injury in the first period. They had used three defensemen, Sapuppo, Trede and Gilmartin. A six-minute overtime period ended scoreless, despite the scoring efforts of Heseltine, Bartle and Tim Donovan and the line of Allard, Steve Donovan and McNeil. The winning goal came for Swampscott at the three-minute mark of the second overtime and a still proud, but exhausted, Andover team greeted the victors.

Giants 8 - Cards 0

Giants' pitcher Greg DeVoir fired a no-hitter, striking out 19 of the 21 batters he faced, as the Giants shut out the cards 8-0. A ground to short by Slavin and a fly to right field by Patten constituted the only contact made by Card batters. Heavy hitters for the Giants included Brian Costello (2 doubles, 3 hits), Tim Adams (a long triple) and Jeremy Payne and Kieth Mercer (base hits).

Giants 16 - Tigers 7

In a game called after five innings due to darkness, the Giants outlasted the Tigers to gain the victory. Murphy, Mencis, Lane and Gibson hit the ball well for the Tigers. Ten out of the 11 Giants who saw action contributed hits with Costello and Payne leading the way with three and two, respectively. Steve DeVoir struck out 12 to gain the win.

White Sox 4 - Cardinals 3

The White Sox pulled out a 4-3 squeaker against the Cardinals in a game called after six innings because of darkness. Kevin Henderson was 3-for-3 for the Sox, including a towering double in the third that went to the fence. John Lutz had two hits; Chris Hekimian, Josh Yezerki and Steve Donovan chipped in one apiece. The Cardinal hits came from Aleke Msumba, Brandon McCue and Ted Andry. Yezerki was the winning pitcher while Henderson picked up the save. Jim Flowers pitched well in relief. Cardinal pitcher, Jim Tacy, pitched a fine game, giving up 8 hits, striking out 11 and walking only one batter.

Parker Resigns At Merrimack

Bruce Parker, head coach at Merrimack College since 1978, has announced his resignation.

Parker, who has also served as Merrimack's director of athletics since 1980, will leave in August when his contract expires.

Recently, Merrimack announced that a separate, full-time athletic director position would be established at the college beginning next academic year. Historically, the college's athletic director has served as an administrator of the athletic program and as a coach of a varsity intercollegiate sport.

Earlier this year, Parker indicated to the administration that he was not interested in the new position.

"I have been looking into the possibility of a new position for several years," he remarked.

"As the college has recently decided to restructure the organization of the athletic department, I feel now is an appropriate time to move on to a new position and a new challenge."

According to Dr. E. Joseph Lee, who oversees the athletic department, the college will shortly announce the search process that will be undertaken for a new hockey coach. Lee explained that the search for an athletic director is underway and

Tennis Ratings

Two major projects have been initiated by the New England Lawn Tennis Association to serve tennis players in the Greater Boston area.

NELTA, the Sectional Association of the United States Tennis Association, will sponsor free National Tennis Rating Program Clinics, Saturday, May 7, at the Woburn Racquet Club from noon to 4:30 p.m. and Sunday, June 12, at The Club at Babson in Wellesley from noon to 4 p.m.

The NTRP is a nationally utilized rating which places a player in a level of play for the best competitive opportunities for tournament, league and social activities.

Both clinics are sponsored by Michelob Light of New England and Sportscape, New England's leading leisure-time publication, who are regional sponsors of USTA-Michelob Light League Tennis. In conjunction with the rating clinics, NELTA league officials are organizing leagues in Greater Boston for a six-week season, June 28-Aug. 5, in the evenings for adults age 21 and over. Information on the leagues will be available at the May 7 clinic.

spontaneous.") At that point she began to relax and enjoy the experience.

She believes the judges liked her creation because it was "spicier and kind of uniquely flavored. After tasting 20 other pizzas, it had to be something kind of different" to grab their taste buds, she says. (One contestant's unsuccessful strategy was to bring in "a plain old cheese pizza" because she thought it would stand out among all the entries heaped with special toppings, Sandy notes.)

Sandy also kept her recipe on the simple side — "the simpler the better" — by using ready-made pizza bread for her crust, and Mexican-inspired ingredients that are "not too heavy."

She got to see herself onscreen later thanks to a neighbor who video-taped the show. Watching herself on television was "a funny feeling," Sandy says. "I kept thinking, I should have worn this, I should have done that."

Her youngest children, ages two and four, were excited about seeing Mom on television, Sandy says, although her seven-year-old "wasn't too impressed."

But her neighbor's children certainly enjoyed the tape: Their mother told Sandy she came home from church Sunday morning to find the kids watching Sandy Sullivan and her tequila pizza instead of cartoons.

two wings of the school, which are to be renovated into a new home for town and school offices.

The final contract will be signed as soon as it is determined whether or not union workers will be hired, according to the manager. As soon as that question is settled "we could close at any time," he said.

The manager said he expected to review final plans for the project before the end of the week. However, the contractor's price can not be set until the project has been put out on the bond market, Mahony added, because the price "will be determined ultimately" by the interest rate obtained on the bonds.

Rehearsal

The North Reading Concert Band will begin rehearsals on Tuesday, May 17. New members may join at this time. A Pops Concert will culminate the series on June 24 at the North Reading Knights of Columbus Hall.

Rehearsals are held Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. in the North Reading Junior High Large Group Room. No auditions are held.

unacceptable. (The Senate, by the way, passed the measure in three hours with no roll call.) What followed was much homework, assessing the facts, discussion with constituents who both favored and opposed the measure, and a weighing of the implications of my vote, centered mostly on the question of who is going to pay for urban problems in the Commonwealth.

The argument that Proposition 2½ was being "gutted" betrayed the facts. Of 351 communities, 340 are already at or below the 2½ levy—which speaks well for the viability of Proposition 2½. Allowing the remaining 11 communities one more year to meet their required cuts is not remotely "ruining" Proposition 2½. Putting the decision in the hands of city councils instead of directly with the voters is a valid criticism because it flaunts a "we-know-better-than-the-voters" attitude which promotes cynicism. Nevertheless, it was those municipal officials who kicked and screamed for more aid and claimed they couldn't possibly live with one more year of cuts. If they, as elected officials, couldn't live with the cuts, then it seemed to me they should be willing to take the "political heat" and stretch the cuts over two years.

The recent announcement by city councils that they won't use this override provision anyway makes the entire debate on fiscal responsibility somewhat moot. Of course, they don't want this override provision (which they and their representatives pleaded for) now that it's too "hot." Easier by far is to back to the Legislature and ask for fiscal bailouts. Ultimately, the state will bail them out and it will use a portion of Andover's aid and Andover citizens' state tax dollars to do it.

A valid question is why will the Legislature bail them out? Any why at our expense? Mayor Kevin White's actions in Boston make it difficult to defend our cities. Mismanagement and political antics have prevented legitimate recognition of urban costs: larger senior citizen populations requiring special services, higher crime rates, more bilingual and special needs students, densely populated areas of wooden structures requiring high levels of fire protection, etc.

Clearly, we are asking our cities to do more with less. Within a few years, the pension liability of some cities will equal the total new money they can raise under Proposition 2½.

No state can afford to ignore the tremendous resources represented by the urban areas. We use our cities for health care, higher education, commerce and the arts. The social and economic costs of urban decay are too high no matter where you live in the United States. Above all, some semblance of equal educational opportunity, whether a child lives in Chelsea or Wellesley, speaks to the very heart of democracy.

There is certainly room for legitimate debate on all the issues raised and I appreciate the efforts of my constituents who contacted me with a wide range of opinions on the issue. I hope this article reflects the difficult dilemma with which I and many other legislators wrestled.

If you have comments on this or any other issue or concern, please feel free to contact me, either by phone (722-2692) or by mail (Rep. Sue Tucker, State House, Room 167, Boston, MA 02133).

WHOEVER SAID COMMUTING WAS WITHOUT ITS REWARDS?

It's a common notion these days that the shorter the commute, the better.

But this notion can be quickly dispensed with when you own a Saab.

Press on the accelerator and you'll feel power that would make the guys in the corner office jealous. (If you are one of those guys, well, why leave your ego at work?)

Take a curve and you'll experience a kind of control that may still be eluding you as a weekend athlete.

In fact, go for one test ride and you'll realize the way to deal with a commute, even a short one, isn't to find a new job or a new house.

Just a new car. A Saab.

Blizzards 2 - Hurricanes 0

Both teams played a fairly even first half with their goalies turning in excellent performances. BOW: Jody Sanders, Lisa Campbell and Jennifer Atkins (Hurricanes) and Carolyn Oskar and Kim Reagan (Blizzards).

Volcanoes 2 - Tidal Waves 1

BUSINESS PROFILES

P.J.'s General Store And Restaurant—Where People Come First

The Ballardvale section of Andover is growing, and the owners of P.J.'s General Store, Phyllis Cassidy and Marianne O'Leary, believe in serving their customers the best they can by offering them friendliness, good food, variety and convenience.

So, now they're expanding at their 195 Andover Street location—the General Store will be moving next door and offering many new services and products such as a deli, a gift section and of course, an expanded line of groceries and beer. For a $10 minimum purchase, they offer a free delivery service within the local area, a special advantage for the housebound or the elderly in bad weather. Jim Cassidy and Jack O'Leary, husbands of Phyllis and Marianne and local firefighters, will be running the store once it moves next door.

P.J.'s Country Kitchen will remain where the store is now located and, as a full restaurant with an expanded menu, will continue to offer very affordable, family style, homemade meals in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

There is always a fresh, homemade soup and a warm dish for lunch, in addition to the full lines of subs and sandwiches. Each person who works there creates a special dish for the daily menu. Specialties of the day include "Egg O'Cassidy" and the "S.S. O'Leary Bomb," a super steak sub. Or you might drop in for their 99¢ Breakfast Special or a quick cup of coffee.

The upper section of P.J.'s General Store's building has been renovated into modern offices and is just waiting for professionals who would like to capitalize on the building's convenient location (close to the Ballardvale train station) and the open market for services in that area.

Conveniently located between Lowell Junction and Andover center, Phyllis and Marianne know the most important ingredient in any business is the people. P.J.'s depends on its people. The General Store is, at any given time, full of neighbors, friends, commuters and regulars who count on P.J.'s for good food, good service and good people.

So, stop by P.J.'s General Store where the people come first—P.J.'s is for people and the people who know P.J.'s are most definitely for P.J.'s. Open daily from 6 a.m.-9 p.m. Tel. 470-2318.

Andover Auto And Truck—The New Boys In Town

Andover Auto and Truck Service, 85 Essex St., doing business in Andover for just one year now, has already earned a reputation for the top quality workmanship it consistently turns out.

Owners Bob Selvitali and Rick Kiely say "We service people who want quality work, we don't cut corners. That is why all our repairs are fully guaranteed. We are working directly with our customers and offer the personal service that built our reputation."

Bob says, "Maintaining this high standard in the changing automobile industry isn't easy. That's why we have to use the newest equipment. Our Allen computerized engine and emission analyzer gives us printed readouts so we can diagnose problems quickly and accurately."

The shop is well known for complete service of 4 wheel drive trucks and major engine and transmission overhauls.

Bob and Rick want customers to know that they offer a full line of automotive services including air conditioner installation and repair, heater and radiator service, engine tune-up, wheel alignment, high-speed tire balancing, brake repair and welding for all foreign and domestic cars and trucks.

The welding shop is run by Ed Valiant. Ed welds car floor boards and frames, snow plows, trailer hitches and custom trailers. The mobile welding truck provides full welding service at any location, home, farm, industrial or construction site. Ed says "no job is too big or too small."

Ciro's Bakery—A Tradition Of Freshly Baked Goods

With the Spring come weddings and graduations, so, remember Ciro's Bakery, Shawshen Plaza, Andover, offers fresh and decorative cakes for all and any occasion. If you plan on some Spring entertaining, treat your guests to this area's finest pastries.

It all started 85 years ago when Ciro Giordano left Naples and settled in the North End of Boston, opening one of its first bakeries. Baking was learned as an art and Ciro's grandson, Jim Giordano, now brings that special tradition to Andover.

Ciro's offers the area's finest European pastries, American pastries, breads, rolls, doughnuts, pies and cakes. They specialize in pure whipped cream products. Everything is made fresh on the premises by owner Jim Giordano. No preservatives or artificial additives are added to any item—just wholesome, fresh ingredients.

Ciro's distinguishes itself from other bakeries because both their wide variety of Italian and American pastries are made exceptionally well.

Or try Ciro's freshly baked pizza, another specialty. There's also quiche and calzones available for take-out and ready by noon time each day. Quiches are lorraine, spinach and mushroom. Calzones are filled with fresh ham, pepperoni and cheese or spinach and any pizza combinations can be made to order. Or make your own pizza at home starting with Ciro's frozen pizza crust.

Fresh hot coffee is always available at Ciro's, so when you stop in for a delicious doughnut or a hot, luscious croissant you don't have to make that second stop before reaching work. Or how about a fresh cannoli that can be filled to order.

For special times or whenever your sweet tooth strikes, remember Ciro's for terrific, freshly baked goods. Hours Tues.-Sat. 7:30-8 p.m. and Sun. 7:30-2 p.m. Tel. 475-1614.

Thompson's—A Tradition In The Andover's Since 1941

Whenever you want a quiet dinner or to celebrate a special occasion, there's still a local restaurant offering you delicious New England fare in a quiet family-style atmosphere. For forty years Thompson's Restaurant, junction of Rtes. 114 and 125, North Andover, has been providing its customers with these special qualities.

In these economic-conscious times, Thompson's features complete dinners. For one price your meal includes a choice of appetizers such as fruit cup with sherry, soup, chilled tomato juice or fruit punch. Dinner entrees include fresh lobster, baked, broiled or boiled, roast native turkey, broiled swordfish, roast prime rib of beef, surf and turf, filet mignon, roast native duck and many other favorites.

Diners may select a salad, potato and a choice of two vegetables and a beverage to accompany their dinner. After dinner, enjoy one of Thompson's fancy desserts such as a delicious chiffon pie, cheese pie, Napoleon, strawberry shortcake and chocolate mousse. Thompson's employs a full time baking staff providing dinner rolls, sweet rolls and fresh pastries at every meal.

Begin your meal with a cocktail. Thompson's maintains a good selection of imported and domestic wines and offers a house wine served by the glass or carafe.

Luncheon offers you many fine selections including baked stuffed filet of sole, spinach quiche, chicken pie and a variety of hot and cold sandwiches.

Stuart Thompson is the third generation to operate this local landmark, one of the oldest restaurants in the Andovers. He has worked in the business all his life and has maintained the special qualities that has kept Thompson's customers coming back.

A friendly staff and good service always awaits you at Thompson's. Their luncheon hours are 11:30-3:00 Tues.-Sat. Dinner hours begin at 3 p.m. with seating until 9 p.m.

Complete dinners are served Sunday starting at 11:30 with seating until 9 p.m. Reservations are recommended. Always plenty of free parking. Tel. 686-4300

Here's how to select an air conditioner:
Check the energy efficiency ratio (EER) of the unit. The higher the EER, the lower the cost of operating the air conditioner. Units having an EER of 7.5 or higher are considered to be high efficiency models. Although they cost somewhat more to buy, they cost less to operate. If the savings in energy costs can pay the difference in price between a high efficiency or regular air conditioner within five years, it's a good investment. Shop early. The best time to buy an air conditioner is long before the heat wave rolls into town.

WHAT'S A RESIDENCE?

Sounds like an easy
enough question, doesn't it? An eskimo
would point to his igloo.
A hermit would gesture toward his cave. A suburbanite would look at his bi-level. A city-dweller might look up at the 20th floor of a high-rise apartment. All of these people are correct, since they live at those places.

A city zoning ordinance that states that "residences only shall be put up in a certain area of land" could conceivably include any or all types of "residences". It is for this reason that most ordinances are quite specific with regard to the types of residences that can be built.

Regarding this matter, people sometimes ask if they are allowed to take in boarders, wondering if this would be a violation of "Residence only" restrictions. If the owner lives

there himself, he can normally do this, UN-LESS the restriction states that only one private family can occupy the building. However,
if he turns the whole
place into an apartment building or rooming house, he violates the restrictions because it is no longer his residence.
It is a business. This would also apply to tourist homes.

Gravel Hearing Interest Mounts

A large audience of concerned townspeople is expected to attend a Planning Board public hearing later this month on alleged gravel removal violations at the Olympic Village subdivision, located between River and Woburn streets.

The hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 24, at Memorial Hall Library, and Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore said he expects "a substantial turnout" at the hearing.

The board has issued a stop work order for part of the subdivision because they say developer Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp. has violated the terms of the board's subdivision approval, as well as the town's gravel removal bylaw. The planners approved plans for the 83-lot cluster development in December 1980.

According to Gilmore, no earth material was to be removed from the site until the community development department approved the grading of roads and easements. That has not been done, he said, but "scores of trucks have left the site carrying earth material."

A Public Works department inspector has been monitoring the site to make sure no work is done at portions of the site under the stop work order, the director said; work is continuing in sections of the development not under dispute.

During the public hearing, the planning board will consider modifying or rescinding its 1980 approval of plans for Olympic Village. If the planners rescind their approval, work must stop at the entire site, Gilmore said.

Engineers from Dana F. Perkins Associates, representing the developer, asked to meet with Gilmore on Wednesday, he said, possibly to review changes in the subdivision plan.

The board will discuss Olympic Village during a regular meeting next Tuesday night at the Essex Street theatre building.

Hoop Camp

The Lawrence YMCA will hold its third annual "Hoop Camp" for boys and girls ages 9-15 this Summer. The boys camp will be held June 27 - July 1, and the girls camp will be July 5 - July 8.

The goals of the camp are achieved through the rise of lectures, station drills, two games per day, instructional movies and team practices.

Teams will be formed within two age divisions and will be evenly balanced according to age, height and playing experience. All campers will play an equal amount of time during games & scrimmage session. The camps will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
